

Accessibility statement – Aalto University Teacher service

Aalto University's blogs.aalto.fi is subject to the EU's accessibility directive, the aim of which is to ensure equality in a digitalised society and set uniform requirements for accessibility. Aalto University's Teacher services objective is to maintain a website that is technically accessible and understandable in terms of its contents and that is clear and easy to use for all types of users.

The information in this statement is based on self-assessment. The Wave tool has been used for the evaluation (Web Accessibility Evaluation Tool, 24.10.2022).

State of digital accessibility

Blogs.aalto.fi was launched on 1.10.2010. The site's current accessibility standard is WCAG 2.1, level A . The requirements of the Directive have been taken into account in the development of the website and the work continues. The blogs.aalto.fi largely meets the requirements for accessibility.

Inaccessible content

The website requires further improvements, however, in the following areas:

- video subtitles
- image descriptions (alt texts),
- use of pdf files,
- in some places the contrast between the text and the background is not sufficient.

Aalto University Teacher service is committed to observing accessibility standards. We are actively working to address the accessibility issues that have been identified. Provide feedback to us if you notice any deficiencies regarding the accessibility of the site, please: blogs (at) aalto.fi. We will respond to your feedback within two weeks, at the latest.
