FACULTY OF TECHNICAL SCIENCES

Society for Risk Analysis – Europe invites you to its 30th Annual Conference with the general subject “Living with Risks – Sharing the Good Practice”. The conference will be hosted by University of Novi Sad, Faculty of Technical Sciences, Novi Sad, Serbia, and take place June 12-15, 2022. It will be held as a hybrid event, both live and virtual event on-line.

We are inviting the scientist and risk professionals from all areas to share their knowledge and experience of applied risk analysis and science, including risk assessment, risk characterization, risk perception, risk communication, risk management, risk governance and policy, relating to risks which are of concern to individuals, organizations in the public and private sector, or to society at local, regional, national, or global levels.

We will have separate section and round table on COVID 19 pandemic mitigation measures and will the risk community will be changed after this (e.g. Lock-down and correlated psychological risks, risk communication and immunization process...)

The contributions from all fields dealing with risk are welcome: Environment, Disaster Risk Reduction, Fire Safety, Health and Safety at Work, Urban Safety and Security, Insurance and Finance, Project Management Risks (in construction and other developments), Cyber Security, Terrorism and ALL OTHER RISK TOPICS you are dealing with in practice!

Novi Sad is the second biggest city in Serbia, has a good geographic position and it is simple to reach. It is 80 km far from the Belgrade airport. Serbia is not a part of Schengen area, but the same rules apply for the travellers from the Schengen zone, which can travel with both their passports and ID's without need of visas. In addition, Serbia has many agreements with countries outside the EU/EEA zone for the no visa regime (e.g. Russia and China).
